

D R A F T Partnership Agreement

Santa Fe “Grand Unified Trail System”

The “Grand Unified Trail System” (GUTS) initiative is an effort to study and develop an integrated and unified trail system in and around the Santa Fe area. The vision of the GUTS initiative is an interconnected trail system that allows non-motorized users to travel in a loop around the greater Santa Fe area as well as between the city center and the periphery. The GUTS Initiative will lead community participation efforts to have a unified, sustainable trails system built around the entire metropolitan area by 2020.

This document serves as a Partnership Agreement between various units of government, special interest groups and private sector organizations interested in the development of trails in the Santa Fe, New Mexico, region for purposes of health, environmentally-friendly recreation and transportation, and economic development.

Background

The development of outdoor recreation and transportation through non-motorized trails is good for our health, environment, and economy. The rugged, natural areas surrounding Santa Fe provides unlimited opportunities for outdoor recreation pursuits. Hikers, mountain bicyclists, horseback riders, and other outdoor enthusiasts can explore canyons, ridgetops, and meadows in pinon/juniper-clad foothills, riparian areas, and ponderosa pine forests.

Within developed areas of Santa Fe, natural corridors such as the Santa Fe River, the Arroyo de los Chamisos, and historic alignments such as the Acequia Madre and the Santa Fe Southern Rail line, have already become linear parks with trail systems linking people to schools, health facilities, businesses, and other neighborhood destinations.

Surrounding the City are enticing networks of natural-surface trails including the La Tierra Trails; Dale Ball and Connecting Trails; Winsor National Recreational Trail, Atalaya Trail, Caja del Rio and other Santa Fe National Forest Trails; Arroyo Hondo Open Space Trails; Galisteo Basin Preserve Trails; and many more public and privately owned trails. Completing the connections between these facilities and various other community resources requires continued work by public agencies in cooperation with private landowners to address issues of land ownership, access and financial resources.

Strong community interest for a “grand unified trail system” has surfaced during the past few years particularly with the development of private trail-oriented associations such as the Santa Fe Fat Tire Society and the Trails Alliance of Santa Fe. General and specific aspects of the GUTS concept are supported by a variety of public planning documents, including

- Santa Fe County Growth Management Plan
- La Tierra Trails Master Plan
- Santa Fe Metropolitan Bicycle Master Plan
- Santa Fe County Trails and Open Space Plan
- City of Santa Fe Parks and Recreation Master Plan.

Goals

1. A Soft-Surface Loop Trail, or a Route for non-motorized users, around the City of Santa Fe

2. A metropolitan bikeway and pedestrian network that links urban areas with all City, County, federal and privately-owned trail systems
3. A looped network of multi-use paths for walking, running, and cycling, as well as horseback-riding
4. More function-specific trails

Beyond outdoor recreation, the GUTS Initiative is about creating jobs and entrepreneurial opportunities; expanding and retaining businesses; community-based development; and improved health for Santa Feans.

Proposed Action

The parties committed to this partnership are united by a mutual goal of improving the lives of Santa Fe residents and visitors through the development and improvement of trails and greenways. The parties recognize that Santa Fe's future quality of life and economic prosperity is partially dependent on providing trails and outdoor recreation opportunities.

We, the undersigned, concur that quality of life issues and economic development opportunities can be addressed through trails and greenways. Therefore, we will provide technical and financial assistance, as available, to support the Grand Unified Trails System (GUTS) regional project. Coordination will be accomplished jointly through annual action plans established by the GUTS steering committee.

The steering committee will be composed of government agencies, special interest groups, and businesses interested in the long-term development of trails and greenways in the Santa Fe region. Individuals and organizations must see some aspect of their goals being met through this partnership.
